

Sponsored By

Innovative
Claims StrategiesSM

COVID 19, THE INFLUENTIAL & CRUCIAL
GLOBAL PANDEMIC WEBINAR SERIES

Jun

10

Series 3

2:00 pm ET

JOIN ICS IN THE LAST OF THIS THREE PART SERIES
COVERING ISSUES RELATING TO COVID-19 IN THE LEGAL INDUSTRY!
TOPICS INCLUDE...

- Will compensability determinations and investigation change as millions more Americans become infected and as states reopen for business?
- Can employers require all on-site employees to wear masks and gloves and have thermal testing?
- Are there ramifications in comp court if an employee repeatedly fails to comply with wearing protective devices?
- Will infectious disease endorsements to policies of insurance be considered to be one incident or multiple incidents, each with its own self insured retention?
- AND MORE!!

This is Your Opportunity to Ask Questions to the Esteemed Panel Below.
Submit Your Questions When You Register.

John H. Geaney, Esq

Mr. Geaney's practice involves representation of employers, self-insured companies, TPA's, and insurance carriers in workers' compensation, the ADA and FMLA. Mr. Geaney is certified by the Supreme Court of NJ as a WC Law attorney and was selected to the "NJ Super Lawyer" list from 2005 – 2017. In addition to writing many publications, Mr. Geaney has been a frequent lecturer and presenter. With a degree from Boston College Law School, he is a member of the American Bar Association, NJ Bar Association, Fellow of the College of WC Lawyers, and many more. In addition, he serves on multiple Boards and Committees.

Honorable Ray A. Farrington

Before retiring in 2007, after 20 years as a Supervising Judge of Workers' Compensation, Judge Farrington served as a house counsel for the Prudential Insurance Company, and eight years as an assistant Bergen County Prosecutor, including as Chief of Trials. He graduated serving four years as a judge Advocate General officer in the 25th Infantry Division, on active duty and served 17 years with the 50th Armored Division of the New Jersey National Guard, retiring as Staff Judge Advocate with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. Judge Farrington has served as a trustee of the Bergen County 200 Club and as attorney for the Wyckoff Zoning Board of Adjustment prior to becoming a judge.

Jon L. Gelmen, Esq.

Mr. Gelmen is in private practice in NJ where his practice focuses on WC law, asbestos litigation and products liability cases, representing injured workers, & their families, in occupational injury & disease claims. He has spent his legal career litigating claims to those who have been exposed to toxic substances & other related illnesses. Mr. Gelman is a past VP of the National Workplace Injury Litigation Group, a former Trustee of the National Workplace Injury Studies Institute, and a founding member of The Asbestos Litigation Group. He is a Charter Fellow of The College of Workers' Compensation Lawyers, author and editor to a nationally recognized WC blog,

This Space is Limited. Register Today!

marketing@icstrategies.com